WORK SMARTER AND STOP DATA ENTRY MADNESS

How will you get it all done?

Do you ever watch the time slip away and wonder, "How will I get it all done?"

You're not alone. Some Chambers use three, four, or more computer programs to manage their Chamber. This takes valuable time because staff manually enters the same data over and over into several places.

See how to do more in less time. After all, isn't it about time to stop the data entry madness and focus on the strategic initiatives that fulfill your mission?

Adding a member is easy. Or is it?

Does this sound familiar? Let's say Bob wants to join your Chamber. Now multiple members of your staff need to enter his information:

1. Sales rep helps Bob fill out an application form by hand.
2. Membership director types in all of Bob's information.
3. Billing specialist also adds Bob's information into your accounting software and sends Bob an invoice, and then waits patiently to receive Bob's check in the mail.
4. Marketing manager enters Bob's information into your communication program.
5. Webmaster sets up Bob's profile in the membership directory listing on your website.
6. Social media specialist creates a welcome post and tweets out a greeting.

It's a coordinated effort that takes hours or days to perform.

There is a better way.

With ChamberMaster Chamber management software, information is entered once and it's synchronized in real-time across your network.

Here's how it works:

- Businesses or individuals sign up for membership online and staff receive notifications to approve. An invoice is generated automatically, and so is their membership profile in your database.
- The new member instantly appears online in your member directory. The "welcome new member" post is launched for all your social media followers to see.
- Meanwhile, a thank you email is automatically sent to the new member, giving them access to the exclusive member information center. The member can log in to start networking, pay bills, enhance their profile, sign up for events, and access valuable resources you provide.

You've created a great first impression within minutes with almost no staff time.

Automate your events.

Now imagine using ChamberMaster to manage your next big event:

- Members are emailed personalized event invitations. They can immediately register and pay online.
- Attendees can opt to receive an automatic event reminder, as well as add the event to their calendar.
- Your on-site event staff can also register a walk-in, accept payments, and check in guests. When it's all over, simply click on your computer, tablet, or smartphone to automatically email a thank you note to all attendees.
